Charge detonation breaks ground for $400 million Army ammo plant at NSTL

By ELLIS CUEVAS
"The hardest thing I have had to do since I have been in politics, was answer a woman 90 years old, in a wheel chair, when she asked me, Mr. Senator, you are not going to let them take my home away from me are you?"
Senator John C. Stennis speaking at

Lovelace gives Army keys to door at NASA

Alan M. Lovelace, deputy administrator, NASA, delivered the official address of welcome from his administration to the latest NSTL agency, the U.S. Army Armament Materiel Readiness Command.

In view of the importance of both the development and the role played by NASA in the furtherance of this county, the entire text of that speech is here reprinted.

Senator Stennis, Congressman Montgomery, Congressman Lott, Secretary Duncan, Secretary Clayton, Dr. LaBerge, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen.

It is a real pleasure and an honor to represent the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in today's very significant events.

We at NASA have consistently sought ways in which this fine installation could be used most effectively by our government, and today we take a long step in that direction as we welcome yet another agency to NSTL.

We look forward, here at NSTL, to a continuation of the long and mutually beneficial relationship with the Department of the Army which extends all the way back to the days just prior to the First World War when the (then) War Department bought a tract of land near Hampton, Virginia which became the home of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, NASA's predecessor agency.

In fact we have already begun a continuation of that cooperative relationship here with a joint feasibility study of the use of wood trash or "biomass" as an alternate source of energy.

This is consistent with a primary NASA policy of making our laboratories and facilities available whenever possible to other government agencies in support of their own programs. That policy has been especially successful here where we are working with the Departments of Commerce, Interior, Transportation, (LOVELACE - Page 6A)

Stennis, left, mashes down button with right thumb, an act resulting in explosive removal of first excavation for construction of new Army 155mm, M483 ICM complex, for manufacture of howitzer ammunition. To be five years in building, plant will be constructed under supervision of Mason Chamberlain, Inc., and will be capable of producing 120,000 packaged rounds per month. Gambling furor subsides, OLA budget not involved

by EDGAR PEREZ

The board of directors of Our Lady's Academy, girls high school of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, has issued a statement denying allegations the school's operations would be affected by a crackdown on carnival association gambling.

Contrary to statement made in the recent edition of the Sea Coast Echo, January 8, 1978, Our Lady's Academy will NOT close. This statement has been made at the request of Our Lady's Academy School Board. Statement issued by Our Lady's Academy school board Monday.

Father Pat Tearney, interim pastor of the church, said last week OLA would "run out of money" by March of this year, and would depend heavily on contributions from the OLG Carnival Association to finish out the school year.

An OLA school board member, said minutes to map out strategy prior to Tuesday's council meeting.

McCullough and the school board need city approval of proposed issuance of some $150,000 in short term notes to partially finance a new cafeteria and classroom renovations at Bay Junior High, and lunchroom renovations at North Bay Elementary.

The City Council last week took the school system's short-term loan request under advisement, noting it needed more time to study the proposal which would entail imposition of an additional half-mill to the districts ad valorem tax schedule.

The 1942 State Legislature established a two-mill tax levy to be used in whole or part to finance short-term loans for emergency repairs, additions and renovations as well as other school capital improvements.

McCullough said this tax levy has been used by the school system many times causing the millage assessment to vary from two mills to zero.

On this basis, the superintendent feels the imposition of an additional half-mill to cover his latest request for funds should not be considered an actual tax increase.

"All we are asking the city council to do is let us use our two mills when it's necessary," McCullough told the board members at their Monday night meeting.

Bay vandalism continues, brings curfew crackdown

by EDGAR PEREZ

Sportsman's Paradise on U.S.-90 is the latest in a series of Bay St. Louis businesses victimized by vandals during the past few weeks.

Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams said a broken plate glass window was discovered at the sporting goods store Wednesday morning. Nothing was taken from the store in the incident, the chief reported.

In addition to auxiliary deputies already assigned to regular patrols in an effort to stem the vandalism, the chief said he has ordered his men to begin an immediate crackdown on curfew law violations.

The law places an 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew on youths, 17-years-old and younger.

The chief said due to a high volume of complaints, coupled with the vandalism incidents, his department will begin picking up youngsters found to be in violation of the curfew.

He said those young people apprehended will be turned over to the Youth Court Center where parents will be obliged to appear to secure their release.

City employee stricken

Also this week, city police responded to a call for help in the Food Center parking lot Tuesday night where a 30-year-old Bay St. Louis man was found in the front seat of his car, having apparently suffered a stroke.

Port industry covers waterfront, future sales only on inside lots

by JAKE JACOB

Steve Knight Steel Fabricators of Slidell, La., was approved Monday by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, for occupancy of a 19.5 acre tract at Port Bienville on a lease-purchase arrangement.

Under the agreement, the Knight concern will pay $975 per month, with 50 percent going towards the purchase price, the other half classifying as rent.

Ownership of the property will be assumed by Knight after 10 years, upon payment of an additional $60,000 in cash.

The Knight concern is involved in the sandblasting and repainting of barges, as well as the fabrication of metals.

Webre said the company had the dredging of additional channels at Port Bienville, plans awaiting the determination of costs and the availability of money before they can be presented.

Webre last Thursday had sought and obtained of his commission approval for a six percent pay increase for all his employees, although was told at that time the supervisors would be required to approve any raise for him.

The supervisors however turned aside the request for any raises saying such had not been included in the budget and that if the port and harbor employees were to be raised then all

Early successes reported from Ansley wildcat

The Saga Petroleum Company of the United States, Inc., and Marshall F. Young Oil Co. have reported reaching an approximate depth of 21,000 on an important wildcat venture six miles north of Ansley.

Latest reports available indicate the operators had encountered problems during drilling and were drilling at 20,900 feet.

The Hancock County wildcat is the James T. Williams No. 1, No. 100,000 foot Jurassic prospect, located in Section 35 Township Eight South Range 15 West.

The well is one of two south of the Waveland Gas Field, one of the most active areas in the state.

Early reports from log runs in the Williams well indicated the presence of an excellent section of Moonshine sand, the Waveland field's primary

Atlas Powder bond issue ok'd, seek approval of port patrons

by JAKE JACOB

Claiming the acceptance of Atlas Powder Co. as a tenant at the Port Bienville Industrial Park would put him between a rock and a hard place, Wilson W. Webre, port director, was instructed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday to obtain written opinions from existing park tenants concerning their attitude in the matter.

Principally affected, according to Webre, is the agreement between the county and Borg Warner, which specifically forbids construction of such a facility as is contemplated by Atlas within a given distance of their proposed tank farm.

Should the existing arrangement be nullified by Borg Warner's rejection of their option, due to the county having failed to honor its terms, Webre indicated some $160,000 collected in lease payments would have to be refunded.

Supervisors were not too pleased over the late revelations saying all should have been clarified before negotiations reached their existing stage.

In unanimous roll call vote the supervisors endorsed a memorandum of agreement between L.K. Moore, Jr., and the county, permitting legal work to commence on the issuance of $1 million in industrial revenue bonds for the purpose of constructing facilities needed by Atlas for an explosives handling terminal.

Guarantor for the bonds will be the Tyler Corporation, parent company of Atlas, who in turn will enter into agreement with Moore concerning their useage of the 60 acres of land also to be purchased in the transaction.

Atlas is to pay the county $255,000, or $4500 per acre, for the parcel, now under option for 90 days at $6,375.

Confusion originally surrounded the transaction due to Atlas wanting the issue to go through a third party, in this case Moore, instead of entering into direct negotiations with the county.

Atlas attorneys' on Thursday explained to the Port and Harbor Commission the step was necessary to comply with the company's accounting methods, methods seemingly leading to a greater tax advantage.

The port group at that time endorsed the "agreement to agree" less a controversial paragraph outlining certain conditions desired by the company in its approach to the port's existing covenant requirements, shipping procedures, and the like. These, they decided, could be negotiated later should the overall plan meet approval.

Supervisor James Traverica told Webre it was that board being placed between the rock and hard place by his latest "anti-agreement" stand.

Webre, who had on previous occasions called for a cautious approach to the subject, again questioned the adequacy of the "buffer zone" being provided in the 60 acre purchase.

Bert Courreege, supervisor, Beat 1, said that while he was not against providing all the means possible for industry to locate in the county and provide employment for its residents, "If along the line I see this (Atlas) will jeopardize other industry then I will be against the motion.

Both Oscar Peterson of Beat 3, and James Traverica, Beat 5 who made the motion for the bond issuance, agreed with Courreege, adding that both the record and the resolution should show that any conflict either now or in the future, would change their vote.

Board Attorney Walter Gex, II, indicated that the action taken Monday was simply an agreement to try and enter into an agreement.

Gex indicated that Paragraph 4 of the instrument clearly relieves the county of responsibility until all facets have been explored and final commitment made.

Reading from the agreement Gex said, "Unless and until the Lessee and the Guarantor are satisfied with the form and terms of the Lease, the Indenture, the Guaranty and all other agreements, instruments and documents connected with the transactions contemplated hereby, they shall not have any legal obligation or binding commitment in connection with this agreement or any matter set forth herein or the transactions contemplated hereby, except for the agreements set forth in paragraph 5 hereof."

Paragraph 5 deals with termination, with all expenses to be met by Atlas.

Ammo plant...

Manager NASA-NSTL, and Major Jerome C. Dondlinger, commander, Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

The traditional groundbreaking was not done by a shovel, instead General Eicher proffered a "hell box" to Stennis, asking the senator to push the button. The resulting explosion shook the building and was heard as far away as Bay St. Louis. Eicher told the audience not to worry because "this was his business," before Stennis activated the charge.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Charles W. Duncan, Jr. said the plant is "an example of this country's commitment to NATO."

The $400 million facility ($180 million for construction and $220 million for equipment) will be the first new ammunition plant to be built in the past 25 years.

Dr. Walter B. LaBerge, Under Secretary of the Army, said the newly-designed ammunition will be four or five times more effective than similar high explosives.

"The shell can be used in cannons and in interperable with other NATO equipment."

"This will represent a substantial aid to U.S. allies," LeBerge stated.

The facility, which is expected to employ 1500 persons is being located on the northern 7100 acres at NSTL and will consist of three separate manufacturing complexes. Construction will take about five years. When complete the plant will manufacture the 155 millimeter artillery projectile as part of the Army's effort to modernize it's conventional warfare capabilities.

Congressman Lott said the ammunition plant at NSTL coupled with the Naval Oceanographic Office were signs that NASA-NSTL would continue to grow.

Stennis opened his remarks by saying that, "I am extremely pleased to be here today to officially welcome yet another member into the family of federal agencies residing at this site."

"In one sense, initiation of construction of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant marks a major milestone in an effort which began about eight years ago. In another sense, today marks another step in the long procession of events dating back to the early sixties."

"At that time our nation was plunging forward in the race to the moon... a race we were committed to winning. As our contribution to this great race, Mississippians from this area gathered one night for a meeting in Logtown," commented Stennis. Then Stennis went on to talk of incident involving the 90 year old woman.

"As a result of that meeting and many others, a vital link in America's space program was created on this very site," Stennis said. "The Mississippi test facility was born. A measure of this facility's significance can be found in the fact that every

Stennis went on to say that after Neil Armstrong stepped on the moon's surface, both America's space program and this facility have suffered serious curtailment.

Stennis said, "I have never forgotten the promises made that night in Logtown. I have kept foremost in my mind that the people of Hancock County willingly allowed over 40 percent of the land area of this county to become a federal installation. The federal government assured the people that the facility will be used. As long as I have any say so in this matter, that promise of the federal government can and will be met."

Stennis closed by saying, "I am confident that the Army has found a new home here at NSTL. They will find themselves among some of the friendliest people in our nation. I am proud of the people of this area and pleased to be a part of these ceremonies today. The results of today's activities will be of significance to this area, to our Nation, and, indeed, to the entire Free World. God, bless the people of America."

The invocation and benediction were given by Chaplain Major James W. Street, Mississippi National Guard. The 41st Army Band, Mississippi National Guard, played the national anthem.

Millage hike...

month," the superintendent said. "This could be looked upon as new taxation, but I don't see it that way," the superintendent said, adding, "This millage has been reduced to zero at times, and floats up and down, up and down, but it never has gone over two mills."

Council observers had earlier classed the millage increase as a tax hike, based on the request's impact upon the actual amount to be charged against the individual taxpayer in 1979.

Favre said he doesn't think the average home owner with a $2,000 assessment would pay more than an additional $1 per year in taxes if the board's loan request is approved.

"I have no place to go but to the city," McCullough exclaimed as he wished each member of the council could go to the Junior High "and eat just one meal" to "see for himself" what a great need exists for a new cafeteria.

"Every kid in the school district has to go through that cafeteria for three years before he comes to the high school," the superintendent noted.

"The board of health is going along with us on a month-to-month basis in allowing it to remain open, but we've about reached the end of our rope with them," he stated.

"I sure would appreciate it if you have any pull at all before next Tuesday to do what you can," the superintendent urged the board members.

Board member Robert Hamilton was absent from Monday's meeting.

McCullough outlined the following occasions when the school district has utilized the two-mill backed short term notes: during the 1966-67 fiscal year, $100,000 for the purchase of land for construction of industrial arts building at the Junior High. -April, 1962, $45,000 for clearing of land, bleacher seats, lights, fences, restrooms and concession stands for Bay High.

-1966, $6,000 to match a $40,000 HUD grant to add three classrooms to Bay High prior to initial occupancy.

-February, 1969, $35,000 for lighting and equipping baseball field and tennis court at Bay High.

January, 1970, $75,000 for completion of Waveland Elementary.

-July, 1972, $35,000 for fire escapes and renovations at the Junior High.

-September, 1974, $33,000 for furnishings, sound system and seats at the Junior High auditorium.

"We owe a total of $6,500 on short term notes which will be paid off in May," McCullough said, "so we have never before been in a better position to borrow than we are right now."

"All of you know of our crowded conditions," the superintendent continued as he pointed out provisions of Public Law 94-142 which will be implemented in September requiring the school district to provide public education for all handicapped children in the system.

"That's going to mean an additional five classrooms based on current estimates," he warned.

And McCullough mentioned again the possibility. Educational Finance Commission funds earmarked for the Junior High project could be diverted to other districts if not utilized here within a reasonable time.

In other action, the board accepted plans for a road side sign in front of Bay High. Architect Jules Lagarde estimated cost of the sign at $1,200.

Also, the board formally accepted the resignation of physical education teacher Tony Bault who has accepted a position in the Jackson County school system.

McCullough presented board members with copies of a report on Bay High by a visiting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, as well as an auditor's report.

The superintendent said the auditor's report is available for inspection in his office but declined a copy for press perusal outside the office.

The board took under advisement a proposal from "Waveland people" that the designation "Tiger Dome" be spelled out across the front of the Bay High gym.

Minutes of the December 12 board meeting, approved by the board Monday night, made no mention of a meeting with teacher groups at 6 p.m. that evening, one and one-half hours prior to the board's regularly scheduled meeting time of 7:30 p.m.

Save The Bay finds salvation in Army Engineers' hearing

Save The Bay, Inc., Mississippi Gulf Coast environmental group, has been given a new lease on life by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, according to the group's chairman, Cyril Laan of Ocean Springs and Metairie, La.

Laan said this week Save The Bay, which last month had considered disbanding, will remain active to participate in a Feb. 16 hearing in Gulfport called by the Army Engineers.

The Corps called the hearing following objections from environmentalists and conservationists to a proposal by the Dupont company to build a railroad spur across two Harrison County waterways.

The spur, designed to supply Dupont's titanium dioxide plant near Delisle, would cross Wolf River and Turkey Creek swamps in western Harrison County.

The rail line is a joint venture of Dupont and Harrison County which is helping to finance the project through county-issued bonds.

Laan said conservationists fear that construction of the spur will lead to increased industrialization in an area that provides refuge for a variety of wildlife.

Save The Bay will oppose the railroad construction plans at the special hearing set for 7 p.m. at the Westside Community Center in Gulfport.

Laan said he does not know why a public hearing had not been planned originally, but that the Corps decided "if there's that much involved, they had better hold a public hearing."

An earlier plea by Save The Bay to members and interested citizens for support and opinions brought what Laan described as a "very favorable response."

He said a decision on whether the group will continue long-range opposition to the Dupont plant and its waste disposal methods will be made by next week.

THINGS ARE GETTING WORSE?

The latest survey taken by Louis Harris indicates that 43 percent of Americans now think the quality of life in the United States is worse than it was 10 years ago. Thirty-four percent thought it had improved while 19 percent said they felt it is about the same. One of the main reasons for the pessimism is the sense that the physical environment has not improved, despite efforts to clean up the air and water. Other factors cited were high inflation and unemployment, and irritation over poor consumer product quality and safety.

New charter granted

The Kiln Jaycees have reorganized under a new charter better indicating their area of origination, and will now be known as the Central Hancock County Jaycees.

President of the group is Monroe Necaise of Rocky Hill. Necaise said Tuesday that a new member social and get-together has been arranged for 7 p.m., Jan. 21, in Annunciation Cafeteria.

The chapter president said the group has 21 members at present and they hoped to at least double this number in the near future.

Also forming is a ladies auxiliary, also asking that prospective new members come to the 'social for registration.

All programs of the old group will be maintained and expanded under the new officers.

Involved here is: the co-sponsoring of five Little League teams, operation of a Jaycee softball team; sponsoring of the McLeod Park canoe races, and the Wendell Ladner Bowl Game.

TO QUIT STATE
A Missouri corporation has been ordered by the Washington County Court in Greenville to cease operating in Mississippi in violation of the state's real estate license law, according to J. Daniel Schroeder, Mississippi Real Estate commission administrator. Schroeder said a Jackson realtor notified the commission the company was running ads in newspapers stating they had clients from the midwest interested in purchasing large tracts of Mississippi farmland. According to the complaint, agents operated out of a motel in Greenville and were not licensed to do business in Mississippi.

We welcome the Army to Hancock County

We welcome the Army to Hancock County and Mississippi. We are proud that Hancock County was chosen over 90 possible locations for the Army Ammunition Plant, the first built in the United States since World War II.

The Mississippi Test Facility played an important part in our space program.

Since 1969 there have been many local political leaders and residents who wanted the government return the "Buffer Zone" of NSTL to the people. There may still be a few who think this way, but we are sure glad that they didn't.

When things looked bleak at the test site, with layoffs and the phasing out of the space program, many thought our political leaders in Washington let us down.

We all must remember one thing, when the test site was proposed, we were told how many people would be employed during construction, how many for testing, and after that we were only promised that the test site would continue to be used by the government.

The facility has been used continually by the government, sure employment may not have been the same as it was in the peak Apollo time, but we have had employment.

Our big boost was when the Navy chose to set up its Oceanographic Department here. Now our biggest boost is the Army Ammunition Plant.

The folks we must thank are Mississippi Senator John C. Stennis and Mississippi Senator James Eastland, Congressman Trent Lott and everyone else that played any part in getting these and other agencies of the government to NSTL in Hancock County.

We welcome the Army, Navy and everyone associated with NSTL to our community.

We hope that you will consider Hancock County your permanent home.

Americanism

We explain the symbolisms expressed on a dollar bill

By JOE PILET
(Chairman, Gulfcoast Chapter NSDAR, Americanism & Citizenship)

Please take a good long look at your one dollar bill. We spend them so fast most of us do not take time to reflect on who designed the money and to think of its symbolism.

Notice that the "green back" depicts the Great Seal of the United States. Both sides of the Seal are shown and the dollar bill is one of the very few places where the reverse side appears for it has never been cut and used as a seal.

The reverse of the Great Seal shows an incomplete pyramid of thirteen steps above which is an eye in a triangle and over the all-seeing eye are the Latin words "ANNUIT COEPTIS" (translation: He has favored our undertaking). The date July 4, 1776 is engraved in Roman numerals on the base of the pyramid and beneath also in Latin is the motto "NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM" (translation: A new order of the ages).

Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams were a committee appointed to "prepare a device for a Seal of the United States of North America." John Hancock was President of the Continental Congress at that time. This committee and other committees worked for six years until the Great Seal in its present form was approved by Congress in 1782. The date July 4, 1776 is the date of its authorization.

To your right on the "greenback" you will see The Great Seal reproduced. On the shield with a solid blue field are seven white and six red stripes representing the thirteen original states united in the Congress. The North American bald eagle has an olive branch in its right talon, and a bundle of thirteen arrows in its left (meaning that the United States prefers peace, but is prepared for defense). Over the eagle's head on a field of blue are thirteen stars with sun rays surrounded by clouds (symbolizing the birth of a new Nation). Notice the scroll in the eagle's beak with the words "E Pluribus Unum" (meaning one from many - one government made up of many states. Above the currency designation ONE are the words "In God we trust." Our Nation's motto: "In God We Trust," became our national motto in accordance with Public Law No. 851, it passed at the Second Session of the 84th Congress of the United States on July 30, 1956.

The front of the dollar bill shows our first president, George Washington and indicates that this small piece of paper is a Federal Reserve Note and once referred to as "sound as a silver dollar." The note is legal tender for all debts both public and private.

American citizens pride themselves on prompt payments of debts both public and private and much of their reputation is founded on prompt payment of obligations.

Gambling is a sin

Jan. 9, 1978

Dear Editor:

I cannot understand how so many in this enlightened time don't seem to know that Jesus Christ was not crucified to legalize sin.

He came to take sin out of the sinner. You cannot bribe God by claiming Him the proceeds deriving to a good cause.

There is no such thing as sinning for a good cause.

county employees should receive a raise.

An appeal from Webre that his "people" were exposed to wages of $4 per hour for common labor and $5 minimum for people with talents beyond this "just across the street" were denied by the county mentors.

"We feel we must call attention to the disparity between the port and harbor workers and others in the industrial park," Webre pled.

He said that during the past seven months the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission had brought four new industries to Port Bienville, and he now felt they must take a brazen approach to the future.

He said, "My people are disenfranchised with the motivations being offered when they can just go across the street and do better."

Supervisor Board President Alton A. Kellar said that it had been his understanding that when the budget was submitted "...you (Webre) promised no increases."

Kellar said that it is just "...not the right time of year..." to come before them with suggested pay increases.

In other, non-related matters, supervisors passed a resolution commending Sam Favre, who retired Jan. 1 as county attorney due to ill health, thanking him for his many years of faithful service and dedication to the county. A plaque to contain the resolution will be presented to Favre at a later date.

Next, they declared a state of emergency existed in the county jail, an act permitting the acceptance of quotations for electrical and plumbing repairs.

Further the supervisors agreed to vigorously pursue all avenues of possible government funding for the purpose of erecting a new facility.

Finally, Norton Haas, member Pearl River Basin Development District (PRBDD), responsible for construction of McLeod Park, asked for the endorsement of a resolution calling for restoration of water flow into East Pearl River, water now being diverted into the West Pearl.

Haas also said the development district had engaged the services of Fred Wagner, architect, to plan future park developments. Such plans include swimming pool completion.

Supervisors called for more information concerning a proposed PRBDD bond issue, asking how much of the proceeds would be spent in Hancock County, and how this expenditure related to the half mill assessment realization.

He was identified as Armadae Collins of Sycamore Street, a Bay St. Louis city employee.

Collins was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic. The hospital listed his condition Wednesday as "very poor."

Burglary conviction

City Court Judge Joseph Benvenutti last week fined an 18-year-old Louisiana youth $500 after he pleaded guilty to charges stemming from a New Year's weekend burglary of the Frost Top Restaurant on U.S. 90.

Louis P. Ruiz of Kenner had been charged by city police with accessory to breaking and entering, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and damaging private property.

He was apprehended along with two juveniles by Officer Wilbert Dorsey and Deputy Delbert Seay of the Hancock County sheriff's office, Chief Williams reported.

Florist van overturns

Dennis Freeman, 21, of 202 Keller St., was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital last week after the florist van he was driving collided with a car at the U.S.-90 Service Road and Carroll Avenue.

Freeman, an employee of Loraine's Flower Shops, was traveling east on the Service Road when his van collided with a car driven by Walter C. Damiani III, 18, of 408 Coleman Ave., Waveland, according to Officer Albert Signorelli who investigated the accident.

Damiani, who was traveling west on Carroll, told police his brakes failed. He was cited for reckless driving and causing damage, police said.

Freeman's van was overturned by the impact of the collision which occurred about 3:40 p.m. last Tuesday, police reported.

activities this year, with approximately $5,000 of that sum to originate with carnival gambling activities.

"Contrary to a statement made (quoted) in the recent addition (sic) of the Sea Coast Echo, January 8, 1978, Our Lady's Academy will NOT close. This statement has been made at the request of Our Lady's Academy School Board," the OLA school board's statement reads.

Michael Haas, OLA school board president, Wednesday declined further comment or elaboration of the statement.

"We act as a body, and I don't feel that as an individual I would be authorized to comment on the statement," Haas said.

In other reaction to the gambling controversy, the president of Waveland's Krewes of Triton said that organization is not the Waveland carnival club which stages an annual "Monte Carlo Night" to raise funds. Waveland police reported the Krewes of Nereids usually schedules a fund-raising event later in the year and would not be affected by the current controversy over civic and church sponsored gambling activities.

District Attorney Albert Necaice, following a speech in Jackson last year by Jack Anderson associate Les Whitten alleging organized crime influences on the Gulf Coast, called an October meeting of law enforcement officials in his district which includes Hancock County.

The district attorney and law officers reportedly agreed to halt all gambling in the area.

But when the crackdown began to affect church-supported carnival activities, Necaice was accused by Gulfport Police Chief Larkin Smith of changing his earlier stance on the issue.

Controversy over the issue subsided somewhat this week with no official statements forthcoming other than those from the OLA school board and the Krewes of Triton.

Just north of the Number One Williams well, Saga Petroleum and Marshall R. Young Oil Co. are preparing to complete their new Waveland Field producer, the Number One H. Hunter White, et al, 26-1, after running casing to a total depth of 14,000 feet.

First reports indicate both gas and condensate were recovered on initial tests in the Number One Hunter White well.

The Number One Hunter White is located in Section 26-Township Eight South-Range 15 West, and is the southernmost completion in the rapidly expanding Waveland Field.

Also reported during the past week were other tests in progress throughout the state, marking what is expected to be the beginning of an excellent year for drilling in Mississippi.

New drilling permits issued during the past week included Saga Petroleum's Rebecca Baxter Seal Estate, et al, 19-1 Number One in Section 19-Township Eight South-Range 14 West, in the Waveland Field, 14,800 feet.

Defense and the Environmental Protection Agency so effectively that all our facilities at NSTL are now being fully utilized.

By making available to the U.S. Army the land required to build an important new installation in support of our national defense needs, we further utilize this valuable facility for the good of our country and further assure its continuing contribution to that course in the future.

As most of you know, NSTL was originally established to support the dramatically successful Apollo program. Today, in large part by modifications to the Apollo installations, NSTL has become a key element in the development of our highest priority space program, the National Space Transportation System or Space Shuttle, chiefly with vital test work on the orbiter's main engines. Recently NSTL has been assigned additional responsibilities in the transfer of earth-sensing technology and data to the seventeen so-called sunbelt states to assist them in the management of their natural resources.

So on behalf of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration I most heartily welcome the U.S. Army to the NSTL family of government agencies and activities. I am confident that in the future as in the past the NSTL family will continue to demonstrate to the nation and the world what can be done on behalf of our people by dedicated government employees working together with the solid support of the Congress, the state and the local community.

Thank you.

Citizens in action

Dear Sir:

Profound appreciation and grateful thanks are due to the many Gulf Coast residents and especially those who live near the L&N Railroad tracks for their support and great response to my Letter to the Editor and your accompanying editorial of November 17, 1977.

The L&N Railroad officials got the message and within weeks had work crews replacing the road beds, rail ties (you should have seen the line of rotten ties on both sides of the track), and some rails in Harrison County and especially in the Pass Christian area. Last week your pictures vividly indicated the L&N work in Hancock County.

Bravo for citizen action.

Cordially,
J. Ashton Greene
P.S. Citizen action got the same successful results in getting the some 850,000 gallons of the deadly herbicide orange removed from the Navy Base in West Gulfport, Pacer Ho.

Thanks given for contributions

Dear Sir:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the wonderful merchants and individuals in this community for their contribution to the Fireman's Toy & Doll Fund. Without their help we would not have been able to reach a quarter of the children that we were able to provide Christmas presents for this year.

If everyone who contributed either through time or material donation, could have seen the happiness their generosity brought, they would realize they had given one of the best Christmas presents anyone could give.

Thank you, the citizens of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Hancock County. You made our project a success!

Sincerely,
Richard J. Fayard

Utility increases may cut stamp costs

Recipients of food stamps may experience a drop in their purchase prices as the result of climbing utility bills.

Under new food stamp rules, effective Jan. 1, households may be able to get prompt adjustment on the cost of food stamps if their heating and/or utility bills increased by more than $25 over the previous month.

Food stamp purchase prices are based on net income, after itemized deductions. When deductions for heating and utility costs increase, purchase prices may go down because there is less income available to the household for food.

Local food stamp officials state food stamp households will be able to utilize their most recent utility bill to claim the larger deduction even if that bill has not yet been paid.

If the heating and/or utility bills go up by more than 25 percent households will have their cases reviewed right away. If the higher bill entitles the household to a lower purchase price, they will be able to buy their food stamps at that lower price within 10 days.

If food stamps have already been bought for that month, an adjustment will be made on the following month's purchase.

Households having utility bill increases in lesser amounts than $25 will have the change processed according to normal procedures.

Finally, households who are applying or re-applying for food stamps and whose heating and/or utility bills have increased more than $25 will be certified within 10 days if they are eligible.

Allowable heating and utility bills include heating and cooking fuel, electricity, water and sewer, garbage and trash collection, and basic telephone service.

Food stamp households will receive a notice explaining the new procedures by Jan. 15.

Households wishing to determine if they qualify for the lower stamp purchase rates should contact the local food stamp office.

Bills classified as "allowable" to determine food stamp cost cuts include: heating, cooking fuel, electricity, water and sewer, garbage and trash collection, basic telephone service, any other utilities.

Purpose of the symposium, according to the spokesman, is to analyze current educational issues which affect teaching and learning in Mississippi. Also included in the day-long program is a panel discussion as well as large and small group sessions.

Also involved will be legislators, businessmen, students and parents, as well as educators. The sessions will be in the R.C. Cook Union Building.

The Homemakers Club, held a Christmas Party, at the Senior Citizen's Center, for the School of the Developmentally Delayed. The Club presented all of the children with stuffed toys, and other gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, and all the elves were present to greet all children.

Rene Carver, of the RSVP staff, who is gifted with many talents, played the piano, and led in the singing of Christmas carols. Refreshments were served. Marie Kazande, and the club members, are to be congratulated for presenting such a successful party. All of the children enjoyed every moment.

RECREATION

The first event of the New Year, an afternoon activities social, will take place on Monday Jan. 16, at 1:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizen's Center in Bay St. Louis. As usual we will have a variety of gifts donated to the center, by local merchants, there will also be a door prize.

Why not form a car pool, and make this first social hour, an outstanding event. Refreshments consisting of home made cake, ice tea, and coffee will be served.

WAVELAND

The formal dedication of the Waveland Civic and Cultural Center, took place following the Waveland Senior Citizen's meeting on Monday, January 9.

Due to pressing legislative duties, Congressman Trent Lott could not attend.

President Ruby Life, introduced the field representative to Congressman Lott, of the 5th District of Mississippi, Cecil R. Dubuison.

Dubuison, congratulated the City of Waveland on their many accomplishments, especially noting the complete renovation of the old Waveland Elementary School on Coleman Avenue, into the much needed Civic Center, where the different organizations, such as the senior citizens, boy and girl scouts, and many other organizations of the city hold their different meetings, and gatherings.

Every Tuesday, from 9:30 to 11 a.m., the Senior Citizen's Club Waveland, have a coffee and biscuit chat session. There is a blood pressure check, offered as a free service to all Senior Citizens, 60 years of age and over.

The highlight of the meeting was the presentation by Dubuison, of the American Flag, and a certificate stating this flag flew over the Capitol Building, Washington, D.C. on Dec. 21, 1977.

Barbara Rappold, City Clerk of Waveland, represented Mayor John Longo and the Board of Aldermen, and greeted everyone on behalf of the City of Waveland. She informed all present that the city was in the process of negotiating for funds, and perhaps in the near future there will be a new roof, central heat and air, and sand-blasting for the exterior of the new Civic Center.

Hancock County Circuit Clerk, Henry Otis, was unable to attend due to court duties, but sent a message of congratulations, to all the city officials, and all the citizens of Waveland. The Mayor of Bay St. Louis, Larry Bennett, unable to attend personally due to pressing duties, also sent a representative. The members of the board of supervisors, and Chancery Clerk John Rutherford, arrived after their regular meeting and duties, and were given a tour of the new center by member Charles Mamus.

Mrs. Jean Long, wife of the mayor was presented a belated Christmas gift of appreciation to the mayor. Mrs. Longo relayed the regrets of the mayor on his being unable to be present due to illness. She said that Mayor Longo as always, would, aid, assist, and continue to support all worthwhile groups of the city.

Father Scanlon of St. Claire's Catholic Church, blessed the entire building with a special Blessing of the Season of Epiphany. It was a very impressive ceremony. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

CITATION

As a Resident of Waveland, I have always been proud of my city, my home, and I now join with all the other citizens of Waveland, I'm sure in saying Mayor John Longo we are proud of you and your leadership, and all of our city officials. You have done a tremendous job for us, we hold you in our highest esteem. Love, and our prayers for a speedy recovery.

ILLNESS

Mrs. Anna Garcia, the new Co-instructor for the ceramics class, has been hospitalized. We wish her a speedy recovery. Seniors, if you know of anyone who has been hospitalized, or is ill at home, please contact me at the Center 467-9292.

BEREAVEMENT

As always it is with a heavy heart we hear of the loss of any of our seniors. We offer condolences to the families, and friends of Mrs. Shirley Mattison, formerly of Waveland, and to the Thomas family in the loss of their beloved Mother.

BAY ST. LOUIS

The Senior Citizens Club will hold their January meeting on Tuesday the 17th at 10 a.m. at the Senior Citizen Center. It will be the first meeting of the New Year. Many important issues will be discussed. Let's make a New Year's resolution and attend all meetings. A covered dish dinner will be held at the center at 1:30 p.m., Friday, Jan. 13. All members please bring a covered dish. Our good friend Louis Burghard, pianist, will entertain, along with Fred Horn who will lead members in community singing.

Shriners to stage Gospel festival

The Gulf Shores Shrine Club is sponsoring a Gospel Music Festival, 8 to 12 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 28, at their temple on Courthouse Road and Woodland Ave., Gulfport.

Performances will be given by the Masters Quartet, featuring Billie Todd of Pensacola, Fla.; the Bible Tones, featuring Ward Hurte of Lumberton; Moran Family Singers, Waveland; Eternal Shrine's Crippled Children Choir of Gulfport; Manna and Burns Hospitals.

Pemberton's Headquarters open to public at V'burg

Local history buffs have learned that one of America's most historic houses and one of Mississippi's most outstanding cultural attractions is now open to tourists on weekends, the only privately owned National Historic Landmark in Vicksburg, Pemberton's Headquarters. The military headquarters of Lt. General John C.

Pemberton who commanded the Confederate forces at Vicksburg during the 1863 campaign was constructed in 1836. It was here the decision was made to surrender the city to U.S. Grant on July 3, 1863. The surrender was signed the following day, July 4.

The two story brick structure, struck many times by Union shell fire, has 15 rooms, nine fireplaces, a slate roof, many original window panes and door locks and is in much the same condition as when it was the Confederate command center of the Department of Mississippi and East Louisiana.

A resident during the Mexican War organized a unit of Vicksburg Southrons that fought with Colonel Jefferson Davis and his "Mississippi Rifles." Following the Civil War a resident, who during the war was a Confederate captain, resided in the home. He had the distinction of being one of the developers of the electrical torpedo that sunk the Federal ironclad gunboat Cairo north of Vicksburg.

Under restoration, the historic home has undergone work on the grounds and in the interior during the past three years. The handsome woodwork, structural features and legends surrounding the house are of interest to visitors.

Tour reservations may be made by telephoning the Vicksburg Tourist Information Center, 636-9421 or the Chamber of Commerce, 636-1012, several days in advance.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

SUPER BOWL

Super Bowl Sunday will soon be here at Buccaneer Park, just like everywhere else. But instead of watching the great contest alone - come on down to our well-heated recreation hall. We're going to set up a TV in there, pass around the popcorn and watch the game together. It's a lot more fun to watch the game with a group of people - that way everyone can chip in their bits of information about the players or the game. Instead of being alone, come on out - everybody's welcome.

CARNIVAL CONTEST

And, you know, not long after the Super Bowl, Carnival season starts.

In preparation for Mardi Gras, Buccaneer Park will sponsor a costume contest in conjunction with a Pot Luck supper on Jan. 28. Prizes will be awarded for most original and most beautiful costumes. Contest is open to all, as is the supper.

This weekend's activities will start Friday morning with our flower arranging class. Members should bring a flat container such as a salad bowl in which to make their arrangements. A New Year theme will be used. New members are encouraged to come. Saturday's activities include an arts and crafts session for kids, and a fun football game (on the beach, if weather permits). Sunday is

EXERCISE CLASS

Our exercise class is now meeting twice a week - in an effort to shed the results of our holiday revelry. Monday and Tuesday evenings at 5:30 p.m. catch us huffing and puffing throughout the campground. Even if we don't lose that much weight, it's a good feeling to know we're trying.

BASKETRY

Although our basketry class has been plagued with illness, we're back in full swing now. Our baskets are getting prettier and easier all the time. They make lovely, thoughtful gifts and they really are fun to make. Many thanks go to Jennifer Smith for her perseverance and patience in teaching this craft.

The North American badger is the animal kingdom's most efficient digging machine. An eager badger can tunnel its way out of sight in only a minute or two.

AG advises consumers

Get rich quick scheme fails, refunds in offing

by JAKE JACOB

A.F. Summer, the state's attorney general, announced this week that persons in Hancock County and throughout Mississippi having responded to a "money making scheme" advertised by Unique Ideas, Inc., 1674 Broadway Ave., New York, should contact the Consumer Protection Division of his office, for details concerning a possible refund on cash advances made by them.

Summer said the promoter of the project, Ernie Tucker, has been ordered to refund some $205,000 to consumers across the U.S.

Advertising inserted in several publications by Unique and Tucker, offered consumers a chance for "the easiest money you'll ever make" and claimed the originator had made $35,000 in just one day while at home in bed with the flu.

The company's two step sales promotion consisted of the advertising and sale of the money making plan (billed as a "no-nonsense way to riches") for $10 and the subsequent sale of mailing material for prices ranging between $63 and $325.

The mailing materials included envelopes, and novelty items called "Mink Show Offs" (small fur flowers and gift items).

Summers said the advertisements appeared in magazines such as Popular Mechanics, Playboy, or Penthouse.

He said the New York Supreme Court's order included notice that the defendants' cease from representing that purchasers can make a fortune through the use of the plan, when thousands of consumers have not realized the income represented by Unique Ideas, Inc., and have sustained complete losses. The court made the ruling after the New York Attorney General filed suit and set up a fund to refund the purchasers.

Persons in Hancock County and other parts of Mississippi defrauded by the scheme are being asked to contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 immediately, to obtain the proper claim form for refund of their money.

Pass gardeners to name Citizen of Year choice

By MARYON W. SPILLMAN

Recording Secretary
 The Pass Christian Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Rory Rafferty on January 5. Members and guests were greeted by the president, Mrs. R. Parnell McKay, after which the invocation was given by Miss Bielenberg.
 Following the reading and acceptance of routine reports, the president announced that Mrs. C.D. Taylor, Jean Hammett, and Alicia Ellis, have been appointed a committee of three to select a name to be submitted to Rotary Club as the Club's choice as Outstanding Citizen for 1977.

The suggestion was offered and adopted that the Club hold a plant sale at its April meeting in the Wild Flower Garden.

Mrs. Pat Law reported on the Pass Christian Pilgrimage, April 4. Four homes will be open: that of Dr. Michael Eubanks, Dr. Gordon McHardy, Robert Gilderleeve, and Dr. and Mrs. James Tanner. Luncheon will be at the Pass Christian Yacht Club, and the Rotary Club will hold the Arts and Crafts Show at the City Library.

Mrs. Verden reported on the Parkway Commission by stating that in spite of problems, 300 oaks and 1,000 oleanders had been planted in addition to clean-up operations.

Mrs. Wamsgrans reported on the Flower Show to be held April 13 under the title of "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow."

G.S. cookie drive '78 begins here tomorrow

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale will be January 13-21, with Girl Scouts taking orders, cookie chairmen were told by Marilyn Hille, Hancock County chairman, Monday.

Delivery of the cookies will be February 24 - March 11, upon delivery girls will collect $1.25 per box. Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Troop Girls Scouts will participate.

Hancock County girl scouts are a part of Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council, and their 339-acre Camp Iti Kana was purchased and developed primarily with the proceeds from the sale of cookies. The sale is operated entirely by volunteers with support from the council staff.

Historical society committee furthers bay statue efforts

The Hancock County Historical Society has named a committee to further the society's work in securing a statue of St. Louis, King of France, to be mounted overlooking Bay St. Louis.
